

SOCIAL WORKERS ON THE FRONT LINES OF A PANDEMIC

SAVE THE DATE

September 30, October 7 & 14, 2020
Wednesdays, 5:00 p.m.–6:15 p.m.

Social workers can play important roles in identifying and addressing the psychosocial needs of patients and their families during a health crisis. Please join us for a discussion in this workshop series hosted by The New York Academy of Medicine Social Work Section and the Helen Rehr Center for Social Work Practice.

The objectives of this three-part workshop series will be to learn about the roles played by social workers and their experiences during the COVID-19 pandemic, deepen an understanding of the problems faced by COVID-19 patients and their families from a social work perspective, and make recommendations for social work interventions in the current and future health crises.

Interested parties can register for one or more workshop sessions. 3 Continuing Education Hours will be provided for those who attend all 3 sessions. CE Hours are provided by the Helen Rehr Center for Social Work Practice to NY State licensed social workers.*

*The Helen Rehr Center for Social Work Practice is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Social Work as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed social workers #SW-0510.
